Story

English	Swedish
There was once a kind man whose name was Oliver Goldsmith.	Det var en gång en snäll man som hette Oliver Goldsmith.
He wrote many delightful books, and had a gentle heart. He was always ready to help others and to share with them anything that he had.	Han skrev många underbara böcker och hade ett milt hjärta. Han var alltid redo att hjälpa andra och dela med sig av allt han hade.
He gave away so much to the poor that he was always poor himself.	Han gav bort så mycket till de fattiga att han själv alltid var fattig.
He was sometimes called Doctor Goldsmith, as he had studied to be a physician.	Ibland kallades han doktor Goldsmith, eftersom han hade utbildat sig till läkare.
One day, a poor woman asked Doctor Goldsmith to go and see her husband, who was sick and could not eat.	En dag bad en fattig kvinna doktor Goldsmith att komma och titta till hennes man, som var sjuk och inte kunde äta.
Goldsmith did so, and found that the family was in great need.	Goldsmith gjorde det och upptäckte att familjen var i stor nöd.
The man had not had work for a long time. He was not sick, but in distress; and, as for eating, there was no food in the house.	Mannen hade inte haft arbete på länge. Han var inte sjuk, utan förtvivlad, och när det gällde mat fanns det ingenting att äta i huset.
"Call at my room this evening," said Goldsmith to the woman, "and I will give you some medicine for your husband."	"Kom förbi mitt rum i kväll", sa Goldsmith till kvinnan, "så ger jag dig lite medicin till din man".

English	Swedish
In the evening the woman called. Goldsmith gave her a little paper box that was very heavy.	På kvällen kom kvinnan. Goldsmith gav henne en liten pappask som var mycket tung.
"Here is the medicine," he said.	"Här är medicinen", sa han.
"Use it faithfully, and I think it will do your husband a great deal of good. But don't open the box until you reach home."	"Använd den troget, så tror jag att den kommer att göra din man mycket gott. Men öppna inte asken förrän du kommer hem".
"What are the directions for taking it?" asked the woman.	"Hur ska den tas?" frågade kvinnan.
"You will find them inside of the box," he answered.	"Du hittar anvisningarna i asken", svarade han.
When the woman reached her home, she sat down by her husband's side, and they opened the box.	När kvinnan kom hem satte hon sig bredvid sin man, och de öppnade asken.
It was full of money, and on the top were the directions: "To be taken as often as necessity requires."	Den var full av pengar, och överst låg anvisningarna: "Tas så ofta som nöden kräver".
Goldsmith had given them all the money that he had.	Goldsmith hade gett dem alla pengar han hade.
